COURSE OBJECTIVE

The adopted budget is one of the most important policy documents that a government has. It communicates a governing board's initiatives and priorities to both employees and the public, while holding officials accountable for stated revenue and expenditures. A good budget begins with thoughtful planning. This course provides the tools needed to effectively plan and develop this policy document through the collection and incorporation of strategic plans and priorities. CPE credits: 24

YOUR BENEFITS

- Our college is ranked No. 5 in public finance and budgeting by U.S. News & World Report.
- World-class faculty from the Andrew Young School of Policy Studies teach courses.
- Leading experts from the public and private sector are guest speakers.
- Small class size and in-depth materials emphasize strategic thinking.
- Participants will leave ready to tackle real-world problems.

PAST INSTRUCTORS AND GUEST SPEAKERS

- Kenneth Heaghney, economist, State of Georgia
- Keith Lee, director of finance, City of Roswell
- Katherine Willoughby, professor, University of Georgia

Program Fee - $500

Fee includes course content/materials, light breakfast and afternoon snack. Payment is due 10 business days before the start of class.

Register on our website by May 2, 2018. Visit us at:
cslf.gsu.edu/training
Contact Us

For additional questions on this or other courses, contact Ronald Shelby, assistant director of executive education at rshelby3@gsu.edu or 404-413-0327.