GOVERNMENT FINANCIAL STATEMENTS AND ACCOUNTING
JULY 17-20, 2018

COURSE OBJECTIVE
The Comprehensive Annual Financial Report (CAFR) is a key transparency document, communicating a government's health, efficiency and effectiveness in providing services to the public. This course provides an overview of the governmental accounting and auditing function for managers, strategies for internal controls, as well as best practices in developing the CAFR. Experts in the field will share key insights on the value of understanding and improving your organization's financial statements and long-term health. The lead instructor is Usha Rackliffe, assistant professor of accounting at Emory University's Goizueta Business School. CPE credits: 32

YOUR BENEFITS
• Our college is ranked No. 8 in public finance and budgeting by U.S. News & World Report.
• World-class faculty from the Andrew Young School of Policy Studies teach courses.
• Leading experts from the public and private sector are guest speakers.
• Small class size and in-depth materials emphasize strategic thinking.
• Participants will leave ready to tackle real-world problems.

PAST GUEST SPEAKERS AND PANELISTS
• Paul Nolan, head of municipal research, Asset Preservation Advisors
• Robin Prunty, managing director, S&P Global Ratings
• Alan Skelton, state accounting officer, Georgia State Accounting Office

Program Fee - $700
Fee includes course content/materials, light breakfast and afternoon snack. Payment is due 10 business days before the start of class.

Register on our website by July 2, 2018. Visit us at:
cslf.gsu.edu/training
Contact Us

For questions on this or other courses, contact Ronald Shelby, assistant director of executive education at rshelby3@gsu.edu or 404-413-0327.