COURSE OBJECTIVE
Whether debt is short- or long-term, governments need solid, comprehensive strategies to help ensure it contributes to overall fiscal health. This course introduces policies and best practices for the issuance, use, and management of an organization’s debt. It is geared toward all government leaders in finance, including commissions, boards or authorities that issue debt for public infrastructure (schools, roads, sewers, etc.). The lead instructor is W. Bartley Hildreth, an Andrew Young School professor and editor-in-chief of the Municipal Finance Journal. He previously served on the Municipal Securities Rulemaking Board. CPE credits: 24

YOUR BENEFITS
• Our college is ranked No. 8 in public finance and budgeting by U.S. News & World Report.
• World-class faculty from the Andrew Young School of Policy Studies teach courses.
• Leading experts from the public and private sector are guest speakers.
• Small class size and in-depth materials emphasize strategic thinking.
• Participants will leave ready to tackle real-world problems.

PAST GUEST SPEAKERS AND PANELISTS
• Leif Chase, industry manager, J.P. Morgan
• Michael Kozlarek, partner, Parker Poe
• Earle Taylor, partner, Nelson Mullins

Program Fee - $500
Fee includes course content/materials, light breakfast and afternoon snack. Payment is due 10 business days before the start of class.

Register on our website by Aug. 28, 2018. Visit us at: cslf.gsu.edu/training
Contact Us

For questions on this or other courses, contact Ronald Shelby, assistant director of executive education at rshelby3@gsu.edu or 404-413-0327.