OPERATING AND CAPITAL BUDGETING
MARCH 13-15, 2019

COURSE OBJECTIVE
The adopted budget is one of the most important policy documents that a government has. It communicates a governing board’s initiatives and priorities to employees and the public, while holding officials accountable for smart, efficient decisions. A good budget begins with thoughtful planning. This course provides the tools needed to effectively plan and develop this policy document through the collection and incorporation of strategic plans and priorities. CPE credits: 24

YOUR BENEFITS
• Our college is ranked No. 8 in public finance and budgeting by U.S. News & World Report.
• World-class faculty from the Andrew Young School of Policy Studies teach courses.
• Leading experts from the public and private sector are guest speakers.
• Small class size and in-depth materials emphasize strategic thinking.
• Participants will leave ready to tackle real-world problems.

PAST GUEST SPEAKERS AND PANELISTS
• Charlie Francis, director of government finance solutions, OpenGov
• Kenneth Heaghney, economist, State of Georgia
• Keith Lee, director of financial services, City of Lawrenceville

Program Fee - $500
Fee includes course content/materials, light breakfast and afternoon snack. Payment is due 10 business days before the start of class.

Register on our website by Feb. 27, 2019. Visit us at: cslf.gsu.edu/training
Center for State and Local Finance (CSLF, Andrew Young School of Policy Studies, GSU) is registered with the National Association of State Boards of Accountancy (NASBA) as a sponsor of continuing professional education on the National Registry of CPE Sponsors. State boards of accountancy have final authority on the acceptance of individual courses for CPE credit. Complaints regarding registered sponsors may be submitted to the National Registry of CPE Sponsors through its website: www.nasbaregistry.org.

Contact Us

For questions on this or other courses, contact Ronald Shelby, assistant director of executive education at rshelby3@gsu.edu or 404-413-0327.